The Department of Enterprise, Trade and Employment is seeking the views of stakeholders on the transposition of the Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive¹ into Irish law.

Views from stakeholders and interested parties are requested no later than 5pm on Thursday, 9th March 2023. Submissions should be marked Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive and should be emailed to CSRD@enterprise.gov.ie. Further queries can also be made to that email address.

The responses to the consultation will help inform the work to be undertaken by the Department on the transposition of the directive.

1. Background

The Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive (CSRD) arises from the European Green Deal's climate change action objectives, to further enhance the disclosure by companies on climate and environmental data. The proposal for a directive was published in April 2021 and following negotiations by the European Council and the European Parliament, the agreed directive was published in the EU's official journal on the 16th of December 2022.

It expands the scope of the existing rules for non-financial reporting by very large companies and public-interest entities² to large companies, large public-interest entities, and listed SMEs (excluding micros) on a main EU stock market. It introduces mandatory reporting standards developed by EFRAG (European Financial Reporting Advisory Group) which will be adopted by the EU Commission by way of a delegated procedure. The first standards shall be adopted at the latest by June 2023.

Companies in scope will be required to report annually in their management/directors' report on environmental, social and governance (ESG) and human rights matters according to the EU mandatory standards to be known as the European Sustainability Reporting Standards³. Sustainability information will be subject to a limited assurance (audit) until the adoption of reasonable assurance standards by the Commission.

Ireland and other Member States now have 18 months to transpose the Directive i.e., July 2024⁴, with a view to mandatory requirements commencing for financial years on or after:

- 1st January 2024 for companies and public interest entities in scope of the existing rules (greater than 500 employees)⁵;
- 1st January 2025 for other large companies and public interest entities (greater than 250 employees); and

² Banks, Insurance undertakings, companies listed on a main market in the EU

³ First Set of draft ESRS - EFRAG

⁴ Measures implementing Article 3 and 4 of the directive must be in place by 1 January 2024

⁵ Only undertakings already reporting under NFRD. Under Ireland's rules these are 'ineligible entities' in the Companies Act 2014 - S.I. No. 360/2017 - European Union \(Disclosure of Non-Financial and Diversity Information by certain large undertakings and groups\) Regulations 2017. \(irishstatutebook.ie\).

- 1st January 2026 for listed SMEs, with an ‘opt out’ possible until 2028.
- 1 January 2028 for subsidiary undertakings and branches of non-EU companies

2. Member State Options

The Department requests the views of interested parties with regard to the Member State options set out in Appendix I. It is not consulting on the balance of the Directive, which has direct effect/mandatory applicability and Member States have no discretion in this regard. management and supervisory bodies, acting within the competences assigned to them by national law and having collective responsibility for that opinion, the disclosure of such information would be seriously prejudicial to the commercial position of the undertaking, provided that such omission does not prevent a fair and balanced understanding of the undertaking's development, performance and position, and the impact of its activity.	reported should be clearly identifiable within the undertaking's management report (ie the directors' report). This option allows Member States to permit undertakings to exclude commercially sensitive information from the sustainability reporting under certain circumstances.	whereby commercially sensitive information is prevalent, there should be the mechanism to request an exemption from disclosing this information. This approach would be consistent with disclosures of commercially sensitive information in sustainability reporting across the world. For example, The US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) The Enhancement and Standardization of Climate-Related Disclosures for Investors, published in March 2022, would permit an entity, as an option, to disclose information about any climate-related opportunities it may be pursuing when responding to the proposed disclosure requirements concerning governance, strategy, and risk management in connection with climate-related risks. The optionality of this disclosure is intended to allay any anti-competitive concerns that might arise from a requirement to disclose a particular business opportunity. Additionally, Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures Guidance on scenario analysis for non-financial companies, and Guidance on metrics, targets, and transition plans (TCFD guidance): (a) prescribes that an entity should not default to business confidentiality as a reason for avoiding disclosure. (b) directs entities, as a matter of principle, to err on the side of disclosure when evaluating whether to disclose specific information, and to consider, among other things: (i) whether the information

		provides the organisation with an economic benefit that translates to a competitive advantage because the information is unknown to competitors; and (ii) whether making such information public would cause the company to incur an economic loss. Our recommendation would be for the Irish Government, in the implementation of the Directive, to introduce an exemption that would permit entities, in limited circumstances, where information is not already publicly available, to exclude information when the information is commercially sensitive. Entities that require to use this exemption must identify a specific reason for non-disclosure of information and the information must provide that entity with an economic benefit that translates to a competitive advantage because the information is not publicly available; by omitting information, there should be a disclosure to the fact that information has been omitted and a reason why it has been omitted; and reassess on an annual basis whether the information would qualify for the exemption. The advantages of introducing an exemption for disclosure of commercially sensitive information includes: protection of value for the entity, consistency in global sustainability

		reporting practices and alignment with IFRS Accounting Standards. In setting the criteria for allowing an exemption on commercially sensitive grounds, this should be based on a particular situation that by permitting entities to not disclose information's 'can be expected to prejudice seriously' the economic benefits for the entity. Also, it would be recommended, that in assessing such situations it should be consider whether it is possible to disclose the information at a sufficiently aggregated level that would resolve the concerns about commercial sensitivity, whilst still meeting the disclosure requirements.
